Seven Days of Protests in Iran

Second Issue - Updated January 09, 2018

Seven Days of Protests in Iran

The Center of Statistics at Human Rights Activists in Iran (HRAI) has published a report regarding the recent seven days of protests in Iran which occurred from December 28, 2017 to January 03, 2018. Currently, we have reports on the extent of the protests and the names of arrested individuals as of January 09, 2018.

At the time of compiling this report, the Iranian State had not provided a conclusive report of the protests and it's under currents. Therefore, this report should be deemed as a cursory review and a collection of the reports of the events rather than a singularly comprehensive one.

Limitations in Iran as a result of the repressive atmosphere and a lack of free flow of information, mainly caused by the filtering of the internet, results in HRAI's report not being a full representation of the overall situation in Iran during the seven days of protest.

This report provides statistical analysis - including the geographical dispersion of the protests, and the number of arrests and deaths - based on official comments and assessment of the situation by Iranian authorities and human rights groups.

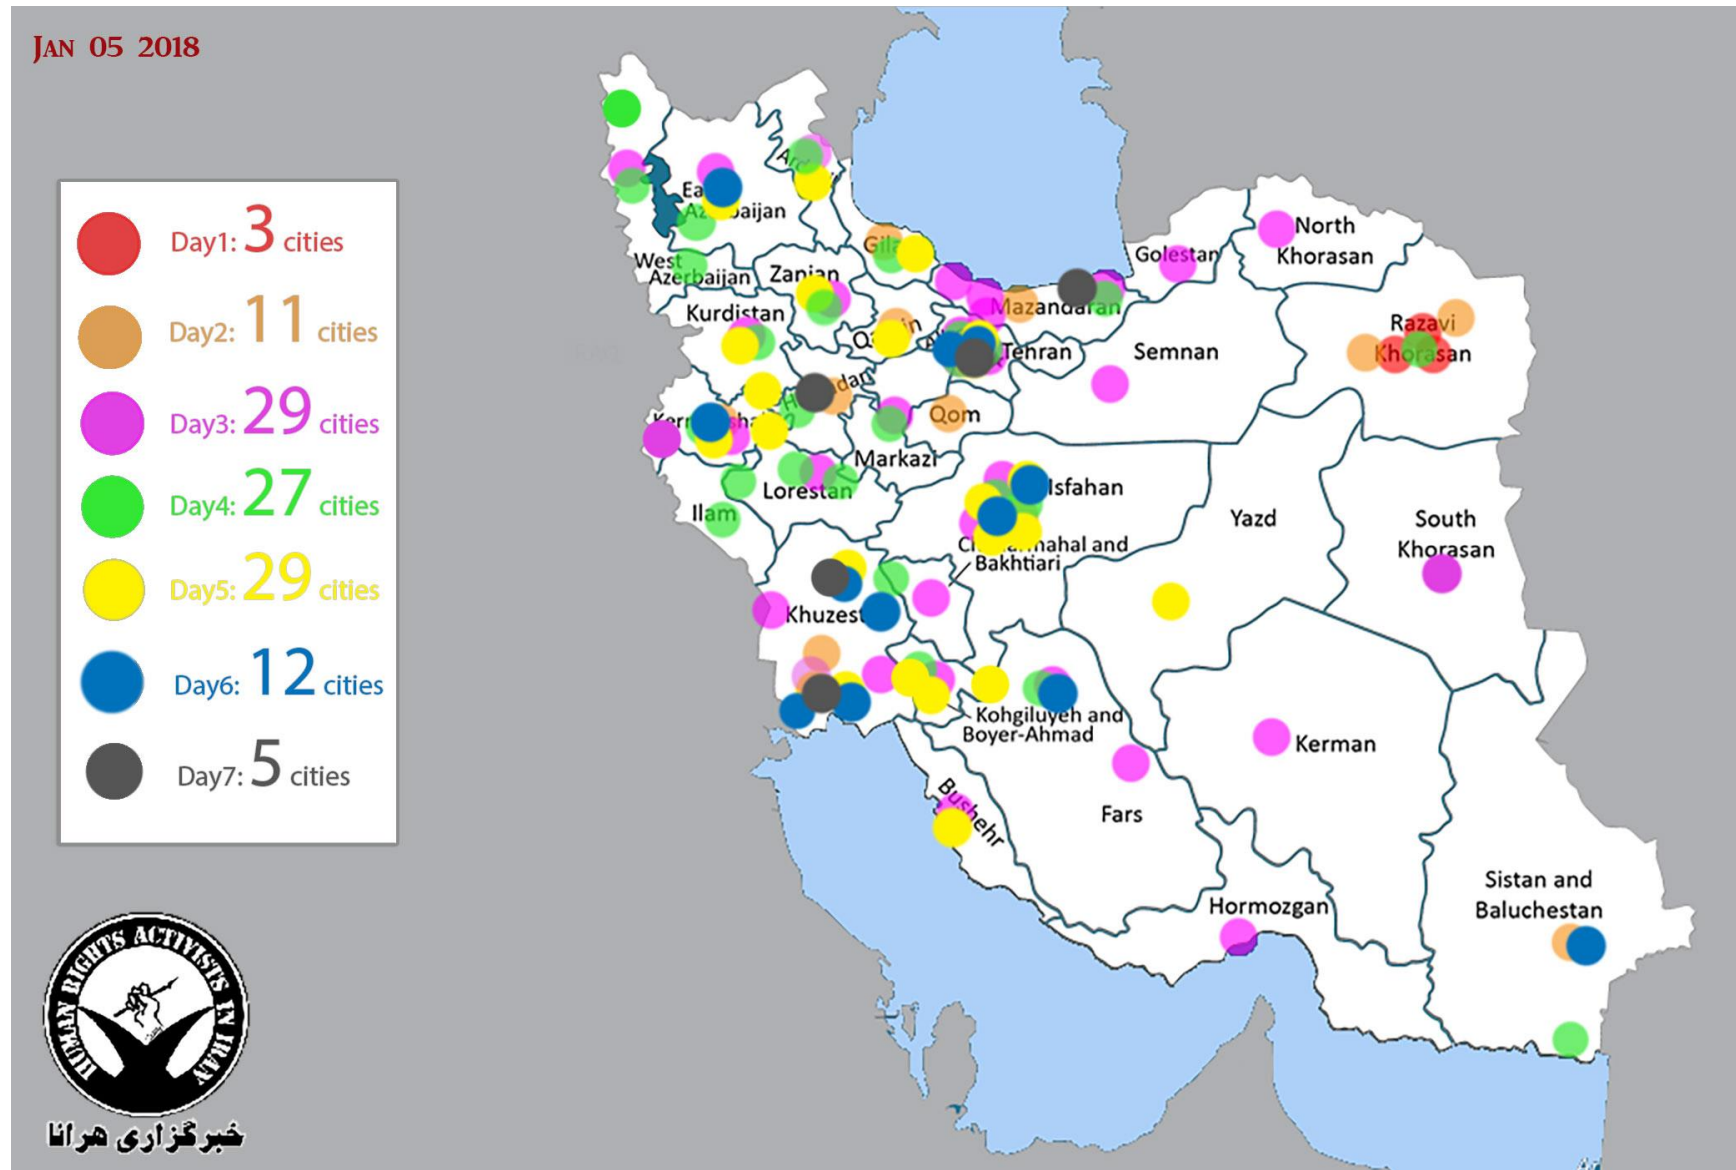

Therefore, this report is compiled based on the information provided by the non-state sources and its authenticity has been proven based on various documentation and methods. Based on these evidences, the report concludes that the protests spread out throughout Iran in these 7 days in all the 31 provinces, in 72 counties and 75 cities. The Security Commander of the Province of Qom in this regard expressed a general comment that and said “during these protest, we have faced difficulties in more than 80 locations”.

The first day of protests occurred on December 28, 2017 in three cities. The second day of protests occurred on December 29 in 11 cities. On the third day, the protests spread to 29 cities. The fourth day of protests occurred on December 31 in 27 cities. There were also a total of 29 cities where protests occurred on January 01, 2018. It was on the fifth day of protests that the Iranian authorities blocked various social media and messaging sites, including Telegram, Instagram, and WhatsApp. On January 2nd, 2018, there were protests in 12 cities. The seventh day of protests occurred on January 3rd in five cities. Protests occurred in the top 20 most populated cities in Iran.

The total population of the cities where protests occurred in is at least 43 million people. HRAI does not have accurate statistics on the number of people who participated in the protests.
